

fields, and co-author of a scientific monograph. Since 2004, she has participated in three national evaluation studies, one target research programme and one foundation project.